Managing Mental Wellbeing

Jovi's Italian Grille & Bistro

2795 Delaware Ave, Kenmore, NY 14217

Thursday, Feb. 29: Registration at 5:30, Dinner at 6:00, Program at 6:45

The topic of mental health has emerged as one of the most widely recognized issues of the last several years. Covid, political tensions, and worldwide conflicts, as well as events specific to Buffalo such as the Tops shooting and the 2022 blizzard, have all contributed to a sense of "dis-ease" among Americans. Our speaker, Karl Shallowhorn, will highlight how these things affect all of us as well as provide essential tools to manage one's own mental wellbeing.

Ed. Note: There seems to be a consensus that young women are among the most sensitive to both the conditions mentioned above AND the negative influence exerted by social media. These young women are our future! What can we do?

The buffet will include two meats (chicken and beef,) pasta with red sauce, roasted potatoes with green beans, salad, bread, and ice cream. We do need to know how many people to plan for, so please send the form below along with a check for $28/person made out to AAUW Buffalo to: Betty Preble, 1 Fox Run Lane #622, Orchard Park NY 14127 (Please include names of guests) OR use the registration form available on our website:

https://aauwbuffalo.org/contact-us/. Deadline for receipt Feb. 22.

President's Message

Lilyen Mascellino

"In February there is everything to hope for & nothing to regret."

~Patience Strong

Hello to All!

I always look forward to February as it is filled with celebrations such as Valentine's Day & special days like National Make a Friend Day. This year also happens to be a leap year so get ready for one full extra day, thanks to the fact that it actually takes the Earth about 365.25 days to orbit the sun.

February is also the time set aside to honor the contributions of African Americans. Even though Morgan Freeman made a point when he said, "I don't want a Black history month. Black history is American history," we do collectively observe Black History Month in February. Back in 1976, this month was officially designated as Black History Month by President Ford. He asked us to "seize the opportunity to honor the too-often neglected accomplishments of Black Americans in every area of endeavor throughout history."

The Association for the Study of African American Life and History annually selects a theme, and this year's is "African Americans and the Arts." The focus is on the impact that African Americans have made in areas such as music, literature, and visual arts. Black women like poet Sonia Sanchez and artist Kara Walker have made significant contributions in these areas, as have many others.

In recognition of Black History Month, the City of Buffalo is collaborating with the Broadway Market to host Black owned retail vendors each Saturday in February from 8 - 5. These businesses will set up shop in the Broadway Market to sell their wares. (For example: clothing, jewelry, and food.) Mayor Byron Brown stated that this initiative is part of a continued effort "to create a more equitable, inclusive, & just community for all City residents." It is the Mayor's goal to help businesses thrive in Buffalo and throughout WNY. Not only will you be able to shop at the Broadway Market during this collaboration, but you will also be treated to live music featuring local African American musicians. This is an opportunity for us to become actively involved within our community during Black History Month.

There is one additional reason why I look forward to February. It is the beginning of the scholarship selection process for our branch, as applications for Academic Scholarships are due on the 16th. And as you know, our ability to continue to provide Scholarships is central to the volunteer hours everyone contributes throughout the year to ensure our success. We prevail due to you - our volunteers, thus proving that the heart of a volunteer is a powerful force!

What we need is a workable and humane immigration policy

Dr. Marian Deutschman, Public Policy Chair

The Foreign-born Share of our Population is the Highest in U.S. History

What we need is a workable and humane immigration policy. We've known that for years. Writing for the Center for Immigration Studies, Steven A. Camarota and Karen Zeigler reported that the foreign-born share of our population is the highest in history. This population has consequences for schooling, welfare, wages, politics, and the broader culture.

The Census Bureau's Current Population Survey shows that the total foreign-born or immigrant population (legal and illegal) was 49.5 million in October. This represents a 4.5 million increase since President Biden took office. At 15 percent, the foreign-born share of the U.S. population is the highest ever recorded in American history.

An estimated 2.5 million of the 4.5 million increase is likely illegal. A record number of people migrated from Central and South America to the U. S. with arrivals reaching 2.5 million in the federal fiscal year ending in October. According to recent estimates from the U.S. Census Bureau, there were 12.3 million illegal immigrants in our country in October. (Note that some of the initial increase after Covid-19 may have been due to better data collection as the pandemic declined.) Should the American people decide on the percentage of foreign-born in this country and the mix of people who are coming — largely unskilled, or overwhelmingly higher skilled?

The foreign-born population has grown on average by 137,000 a month since President Biden took office, compared to 42,000 a month during Trump's presidency before Covid-19 hit, and 68,000 a month during President Obama's two terms. Even in 1890 (14.8 percent) and 1910 (14.7 percent) during the "Great Wave" of immigration, the foreign-born were a smaller share of the population than they are today.

The Biden administration has worked to reduce illegal crossings. The President has sought to broaden legal pathways through the Safe Mobility Initiative (SMI) to provide alternatives for migrants in the hope they don't come here. According to ABC News, migrants are arriving in the U.S. under the Biden administration's new "safe mobility offices," set up in Colombia, Guatemala, Costa Rica, and Ecuador. This program is designed to streamline the U.S. refugee process so migrants don't pay smugglers to make the journey north. President Biden is attempting to avoid straining the U.S.-Mexico border with the record-high numbers of crossings.

Those who do arrive on foot to the U.S.-Mexico border and ask for asylum get a court date and must prove they are eligible to stay. The system is significantly backlogged, so they often end up waiting years for a court date while they sit in the U.S. without authorization to work. With the SMI, they're arriving as refugees who have already met the requirements and will be legally allowed to live and work in the U.S. The process takes only months, while more traditional refugee screening may take years. Immigrant supporters praise the new pathways but they don't think they replace asylum.

A February 2023 TIME magazine article states that the U.S. must proactively work to curtail the violence, corruption, poverty, and lack of good job opportunities abroad that drive migrants to make the incredibly difficult and dangerous journeys to the U.S. where they see a better alternative to staying in their home countries.

What are the major problems that immigrants have when they come here? The Kaiser Family Foundation, an independent source for health policy research, polling, and news, reports that "despite an improved situation relative to their countries of birth, many immigrants report facing serious challenges, including high levels of workplace and other discrimination, difficulties making ends meet, and confusion and fears related to U.S. immigration laws and policies."

The George W. Bush Institute claims we need immigration to fuel the economy. "When immigrants enter the labor force, they increase the productive capacity of the economy and raise GDP. Their incomes rise, but so do those of natives. It's a phenomenon dubbed the "immigration surplus," and while a small share of additional GDP accrues to natives — typically 0.2 to 0.4 percent — it still amounts to $36 to $72 billion per year." (GDP is the total value of everything our country produces in a year.) The Institute says "immigrants grease the wheels of the labor market by flowing into industries and areas where there is a relative need for workers — where bottlenecks or shortages might otherwise dampen growth."

Rich Lowry, news analyst at POLITICO, says that "immigration has operated largely under its own power, and under false pretenses, since the immigration reform of 1965." Many people simply don't know the historic numbers involved so there is no debate on whether 15 percent of foreign-born is the right percentage or not for the U. S. What is your opinion?

BOOK SALE REPORT

Jayne Murray and Kate Collins

Book Sale collections and sorting have resumed in earnest with the New Year! We are also planning for the 68th Scholarship Book Sale—Can you help? The doors are open and despite the windy weather, we have had continuous traffic to our door with small, medium, and large donations. The Legal Aid Bureau of Buffalo dropped off a large cache of Young Adult books and the Grand Island Library is making regular trips with a wide variety of items including 150+ movies. Our growing number of volunteer sorters have been steadfast and efficient in keeping our tables cleared and boxed with much good humor despite feeling sometimes like Lucy and Ethel trying to box chocolates as the conveyor belt speeds up. For us, more inventory means scholarship funds and also the chance to meet our donors. We welcomed a gentleman recently, who over a few days, brought in his wife's very large collection of beloved books. He even volunteered to salt the front path for us, and many walk away carrying some of our never-ending supply of recycling. At times, we feel like a small village. If you would like to join us, we sort on Tuesdays and Wednesdays, from 9 am to 1 pm—we are flexible with your time within that—at 37 Anderson Place in Cheektowaga. See our website for directions.

With the arrival of 2024, our Committee sees the Book Sale on the not-so-distant horizon, May 29-June 2. We have begun looking for our Site which requires at least 20,000 sq. feet, centrally located, hopefully available in early April. If you know of any available sites, please send us an e-mail with the location and some sort of contact information. We are also currently looking for two volunteers to work along with our committee members in the Spring to learn the tasks of Table Layout and Volunteer Coordination. Each year, we create a master plan for the Site to make use of the space in the best possible way. We have tables for all the genres which requires grouping and planning in order to allow customers the freedom they need to browse and also give enough room for our large volume of books, etc. If you are interested in design and have vision, we would be delighted to hear from you. The Volunteer Coordinator contacts and organizes the volunteers into shifts in advance and also makes substitutions as needed. Both of these positions are time-limited and come with mentors. Our e-mail is on the Book Sale page.

Your sponsorship will help us to defray our costs!

Sponsorship Categories:

- Louisa May Alcott, $25 $49
- Toni Morrison, $50 $74
- The Bronte Sisters, $75 $99
- Jane Austen, $100 +

If you are interested in being a sponsor, please send a check made out to AAUW Buffalo Book Sale, to PO Box 894, Buffalo, NY 14225. Friends and non-members are also encouraged to help sponsor our sale. What a wonderful gift or memorial idea! Donations are tax deductible and both your (and their) names will be placed on our webpage and on a poster at the sale!
